Announcement: Upcoming Lean Six Sigma Green Belt Courses

Mon, 08/30/2010 - 12:10 — Chris

Show your boss, your customers, and most importantly yourself that you're serious about your career and are willing to make an independent investment in your ongoing knowledge and capabilities.

Excellence is an art won by training and habituation. We do not act rightly because we have virtue or excellence, but we rather have those because we have acted rightly. We are what we repeatedly do. Excellence, then, is not an act but a habit. - Aristotle

Companies are looking to improve processes and increase the bottom line, becoming a certified Lean Six Sigma professional is an extremely valuable asset to companies and corporations.

Sign up for our Lean Six Sigma Green Belt training program. We'll teach you the DMAIC (Define, Measure, Analyze, Improve and Control) approach to process improvement projects and show you several of the excellent Lean Six Sigma tools and techniques. We'll help you understand quality principles and systems, form improvement strategies, manage processes, apply lean principles in the organization, be a better team player and contribute best practices for continuous improvement. And if you're motivated to achieve certification, our course progression helps you prepare for the American Society of Quality (ASQ) Green Belt exam.

Small businesses to large corporations need professionals certified in Lean and Six Sigma to fill jobs across several industries, including health care, software, professional services, manufacturing, finance and government. Considered a career accelerator, Lean Six Sigma proficiency sets a candidate apart in today's highly competitive job market.

So why not invest in your future - Sign up today, courses start September 14th. It will be one of the best investments you make in yourself and will prepare you to take that next big step!
